Industrial Cooling System with Automated Panel Handling

This cooling system quickly and accurately brakes after precalculating position through a regulating frequency converter. It utilizes cylinder lifting for the panel charge elevator and a mechanical cam unit for the panel discharge elevator.