

Digital Methylene Blue Value Tester

This digital methylene blue value tester is a laboratory instrument for determining the methylene blue value of materials. The tester features a digital display, a stand, a dropping mechanism, and a control unit for assessing adsorption capacity.

