

N95 Particulate Respirator

This N95 protective mask is designed to help protect against certain particles. It is suitable for medical units to filter particles in the air, and to block droplets, blood, body fluids and secretions.

ADDITIONAL IMAGES

Product Overview

N95 Particulate Respirator

This N95 particulate respirator is designed to provide effective respiratory protection by filtering airborne particles. Engineered for medical and professional environments, it creates a reliable barrier against droplets, blood, body fluids, and secretions. The three-dimensional design ensures a secure and comfortable fit for the wearer.

Technical Specifications

Executive Standard	GB19083-2010
Model Type	Three-dimensional

Composition & Materials

Product Composition

- Non-woven fabric
- Filter material
- Mask belt
- Nose clip
- Adjusting buckle

