

Three-Way Stainless Steel Ball Valve with Female Threaded Ends

This three-way ball valve is made from stainless steel for corrosion resistance and durability. It has female threaded ends to easily connect to piping and control fluid flow in three directions for diverting or mixing applications.

