

Universal Air Conditioner Remote Control

This is a universal remote control for air conditioners. It has a large code library and supports over 500 different air conditioner models.

Product Overview

Universal A/C Control Solution

The KT-518 is a versatile universal remote control engineered specifically for air conditioning systems. Designed with compatibility in mind, it features an extensive code library supporting over 500 different air conditioner models. This device offers essential convenience features including an accurate clock display, programmable timer functions, and reliable memory code storage for seamless operation.

Technical Specifications

Model Number	KT-518
Supported Models	500 models

Key Features

Performance Metrics

500 models

Code Library Capacity

Core Functionalities	Universal Compatibility, Timer On/Off, Clock Display, Memory Storage
----------------------	--