

USB Flash Drive

This USB flash drive provides portable storage for various digital files. It is designed for convenient data transfer and compatibility with multiple devices.

Product Overview

High-Efficiency HVAC Heat Exchange

This horizontal evaporator coil is a precision-engineered component essential for climate control systems. Built from durable aluminum fins and copper tubing, it ensures optimal heat transfer and efficient dehumidification in both residential and commercial environments. The versatile horizontal design supports flexible installation options, while the integrated condensate drain pan reliably manages moisture for peak system performance.

Technical Specifications

Suitable Applications

- Residential HVAC
- Commercial HVAC
