

Aluminum Alloy Pressure Cooker

This pressure cooker is made with an A3003 aluminum alloy cover and pot. It features a bakelite handle and is compatible with gas, electric, ceramic, halogen, and induction cooker tops.

ADDITIONAL IMAGES

Product Overview

Professional Aluminum Pressure Cooker

This high-performance pressure cooker is engineered from premium A3003 aluminum alloy for optimal heat distribution and durability. Featuring a sleek mirror-polished exterior and a matte-finish interior, it combines aesthetic appeal with culinary efficiency. The robust design includes heat-resistant Bakelite handles and a secure multi-valve locking mechanism, ensuring safety and reliability in any professional kitchen environment.

Material and Construction

Body Material	Aluminum Alloy A3003
Finishing	Mirror Polished Exterior, Matte Polished Interior
Handle Material	Heat-resistant Bakelite

Compatibility and Performance

Compatible Heat Sources

- Gas
- Electric
- Ceramic
- Halogen
- Induction

Safety and Design

Safety Systems

Multi-valve Mechanism • Steam Release Control • Secure Locking System

Packaging and Logistics

Packaging	Individual Color Box
Assembly	Handle Un-assembled