

Automotive Diagnostic and Testing Equipment

This equipment is used for automotive diagnostics and testing. It features multiple displays, switches, and a rotary knob for control, and is designed for analyzing electrical signals and calibrating automotive systems.

