

Blood Storage Refrigerator

This upright refrigerator is designed for maintaining consistent temperatures for blood products. It is applicable to blood stations, hospitals, and epidemic prevention stations.

Overview

Professional Blood Storage Solution

This upright blood storage refrigerator is specifically engineered for critical medical environments, including blood stations, hospitals, and epidemic prevention centers. It is designed to maintain consistent, precise temperatures required for the safe preservation of blood products. With its mobile design and secure storage features, it offers a reliable solution for laboratory and clinical settings.

Key Features

Core Features

- Digital temperature display for real-time monitoring
- Adjustable shelving system
- Secure locking door mechanism
- Integrated casters for mobility

Certifications

CFDA

Technical Specifications

Model Number

YCD-100E/100