

Ceiling-Mounted Ventilation Unit with Grille

This ceiling-mounted unit provides both refrigeration and ventilation. Its central grille ensures efficient air circulation and consistent temperature control in industrial and commercial spaces.

Product Overview

Professional Air Circulation Solution

This ceiling-mounted ventilation unit is engineered for demanding industrial and commercial environments where consistent air quality and temperature management are critical. Its robust construction ensures long-term reliability, while the optimized central grille design provides uniform airflow distribution across the target space. This unit serves as an efficient solution for maintaining professional-grade climate control standards in diverse interior settings.
