

Circumaural Wired Headset for Communication and Audio

This communication device is designed for both audio transmission and reception. The circumaural earcups enhance sound isolation and provide comfort during extended use with its wired connection ensuring reliable signal transfer.

Product Overview

Professional Wired Headset

The HS-2188 is a versatile circumaural headset engineered for high-quality audio transmission and reception. Designed with comfort in mind, the earcups provide enhanced sound isolation, making it suitable for extended periods of use. Its reliable wired connection ensures consistent signal transfer, ideal for professional communication, gaming, and multimedia applications.

Design & Build

Form Factor	Circumaural (Over-ear)
Color Scheme	Red, White, Translucent

Connectivity

Connection Type	Wired
-----------------	-------

Applications

Primary Applications

Gaming • Communication • Multimedia