

Electronic Component with Mounting Hole

This electronic component features a central mounting hole. It is designed for connecting or mounting other components in electronic circuits.

Product Overview

Professional Electronic Component

This rectangular electronic component is engineered for seamless integration into electronic circuits. Featuring a precision-drilled central mounting hole, it allows for secure physical installation within various assembly environments. The design incorporates high-quality gold-colored contact pads to ensure reliable electrical connections for your hardware needs.

Technical Specifications

Form Factor	Rectangular
Mounting Type	Central Mounting Hole
Contact Finish	Gold-colored plating
Primary Use	Electronic circuit assembly and component mounting
