

Emergency and Security Application Light

This application light is a compact and durable lighting solution for emergency and security needs. It features a robust construction, providing reliable illumination for critical situations and easy integration into various systems.

Product Overview

Compact Emergency Lighting Solution

The DR-0217 application light is a compact and durable lighting solution specifically engineered for emergency and security applications. Its robust construction ensures reliable illumination in critical situations, while the slim profile allows for seamless integration into existing systems. Designed with high-quality materials, this unit offers long-lasting performance and resistance to environmental factors, making it an ideal choice for demanding security and safety environments.

Technical Specifications

Key Design Features

- Compact and slim profile
- Robust, durable construction
- Focused beam for targeted visibility
- High-quality materials

Model Number	DR-0217
Primary Applications	Emergency Lighting, Security Systems, Critical Infrastructure