

European Standard AC Power Plug

This European AC power plug connects electronic devices to mains electricity. It features two round pins and is typically used with various household and office appliances.

Product Overview

Professional European Power Connector

The TC-202 is a robust European standard AC power plug designed for reliable power transmission to electronic appliances. Featuring a durable insulated construction, it ensures safety across a variety of household and office environments. This versatile connector is ideal for powering computer monitors, peripherals, and other essential equipment requiring standard European connectivity.

Technical Specifications

Voltage Rating

250 V

Max Voltage

Pin Configuration

Two-pin round European standard

Application Compatibility

Monitors, Peripherals, Household Appliances, Office Equipment

Construction Material

Durable insulating materials