

General Purpose Hand Tool with Gripping Jaws and Cutting Edges

This general purpose hand tool features a combination of gripping jaws and cutting edges. It is suitable for various tasks such as gripping, bending, and cutting wires or small components.

Product Overview

General Purpose Hand Tool

This versatile hand tool is engineered with a combination of gripping jaws and precision cutting edges, making it an essential addition to any toolkit. It is specifically designed for a variety of tasks, including gripping, bending, and cutting wires or small components. Built for durability, the tool features a robust metal construction paired with ergonomic handles for superior comfort and control.

Design & Build

Material	Durable metal
Handle Type	Ergonomic, Dual-material grip

Applications

Primary Applications

- Gripping
- Bending
- Cutting wires
- Cutting small components

Target User Base

Professional • DIY