

General Purpose Pliers with Insulated Handles

These general purpose pliers are designed with gripping jaws and cutting edges. The tool features insulated handles for improved grip and user safety during various applications like wire cutting, bending, and gripping.

Product Overview

Professional Gripping and Cutting Solution

These general-purpose pliers are engineered for versatility in demanding work environments. Featuring robust metal construction, they are designed to handle wire cutting, bending, and gripping tasks with ease. The integrated insulated handles provide both enhanced safety and ergonomic comfort for extended professional use.

Technical Specifications

Handle Features

Insulated • Ergonomic

Primary Functions

Wire Cutting, Bending, Gripping

Material Construction

Durable Metal