

High-Rise Building with Protruding Design

This is a high-rise building featuring a unique protruding section near the top. The building's design has been recognized with an award.

Project Overview

Architectural Distinction

This high-rise structure represents a significant milestone in regional development as the first building constructed through a formal Tendering and Bidding process in Hunan. Its architectural merit is recognized by industry authorities, having been awarded the Grade Three Prize for Excellent Project Design by the Ministry of Metallurgy. The building features a unique protruding design that sets it apart in the urban landscape.

Awards & Recognition

Grade Three Prize, Excellent Project Design, Ministry of Metallurgy

Project Details

Procurement Method

Tendering and Bidding

Regional Significance

1st high-rise in Hunan via Tendering/Bidding