

High-Security Copper Padlock

This padlock is made from copper. It features a hardened steel shackle for enhanced resistance against cutting and prying.

Overview

High-Security Copper Padlock

This high-security padlock is engineered to provide robust protection for valuable assets in industrial and commercial environments. Featuring a durable brass body and a hardened steel shackle, it offers exceptional resistance against cutting, prying, and unauthorized access. It is an ideal security solution for safeguarding machinery, industrial parts, and textile equipment.

Construction

Body Material	Brass
Shackle Material	Hardened Steel

Security Features

Security Rating
High-Security

Applications

Recommended Applications

- Industrial machinery
- Apparel and textile machinery
- Securing valuable assets
- General industrial parts