

High-Speed Ceramic Ball Bearing

This ceramic ball bearing is designed for high-speed applications requiring resilience to high temperatures and corrosion. The bearing utilizes ceramic balls, typically of silicon nitride or zirconia, to provide superior hardness, stiffness, and lower density compared to traditional steel.

