

Industrial Fluid Transfer Pump

This industrial pump is designed for various fluid transfer applications. It features a robust construction with a motor, impeller housing, and cooling fins for efficient heat dissipation.

Product Overview

Industrial Fluid Transfer Pump

This industrial-grade fluid transfer pump is engineered for reliability and high performance across diverse applications. Its robust construction features an integrated motor and impeller housing, designed to withstand demanding operational environments. Equipped with effective cooling fins and a sealed electrical enclosure, this unit ensures stable, long-lasting service for your industrial needs.

Design and Construction

Mounting	Sturdy base for stable mounting
Connectivity	External tubing connection port
Cooling System	Yes
Protection	Sealed electrical enclosure, Industrial grade