

Industrial Self-Priming Pump

This self-priming pump is designed for industrial applications. It features a durable construction to ensure efficient fluid transfer.

General Overview

Industrial Self-Priming Pump

This robust self-priming pump is engineered for demanding industrial fluid transfer applications. Featuring a durable construction, the unit is designed to provide consistent performance and reliability in challenging environments. The multi-port configuration ensures flexible integration into existing industrial systems.

Series

ZX Series

Application Details

Primary Use Case

Fluid Transfer, Industrial, Self-Priming