

Interactive Touch Screen Television with PC

This interactive touch screen television has integrated PC functionality. It features a high-resolution display and responsive touch interface for seamless multimedia experiences.

Product Overview

Interactive Touch Screen Television with PC

The model L1103 is a versatile interactive touch screen display designed to bridge the gap between high-resolution entertainment and professional computing. Featuring a highly responsive touch interface, this unit integrates built-in PC functionality to support a wide range of interactive applications. It is an ideal solution for modern education, professional office environments, and immersive home entertainment.

Technical Specifications

Model Number	L1103
Core Features	Interactive Touch, Integrated PC, High Resolution, Multimedia Support

Applications

Primary Applications

- Home Entertainment
- Educational Environments
- Professional Business Use