

Interphone Paging System with Visual Verification

This interphone and pager system ensures secure and convenient communication. It features a built-in camera for visual verification, a keypad for direct dialing, and a display screen.

Overview

Professional Communication & Security

This modern interphone and paging system is engineered to provide secure and convenient communication for both residential and commercial environments. It integrates visual verification through a built-in camera, allowing for enhanced access control and monitoring. With an intuitive keypad and clear display, it ensures user-friendly operation while maintaining high security standards.

Key Features

Core Functionality

- Integrated visual verification camera
- Direct dialing keypad
- Information and instruction display screen
- Enhanced security access control

Ideal Applications

Residential, Commercial, Access Control

System Interface

Supported Languages

Chinese