

Medium Pressure Coating Spray Gun

This medium pressure spray gun is designed for diverse coating tasks. Its gravity-feed system optimizes material use and minimizes waste.

Product Overview

Professional Coating Solution

The R100-s is a medium pressure spray gun engineered for high-quality coating applications across various industries. Featuring a robust gravity-feed design, it minimizes material waste while providing precise atomization for a consistent, professional finish. This versatile tool is well-suited for demanding tasks including automotive refinishing, woodworking, and general industrial coating projects.
