

Multi-Layered Conveyor Belt Segment

This multi-layered conveyor belt segment is engineered with a stretch layer, fabric layer, a high-strength layer, and a compression layer. It is designed for robust construction, providing durability and reliable performance in demanding machinery and industrial applications.

