

Optical Spectrometer

This optical spectrometer is used for spectral analysis. It provides accurate data for substance identification and quantification through light interaction analysis.

Product Overview

High-Precision Optical Spectrometer

This optical spectrometer is designed for advanced analytical applications, offering reliable measurement capabilities for professional laboratory and industrial environments. It provides precise spectral analysis, ensuring consistent performance for quality control and research tasks. Built for accuracy, this instrument is an essential tool for professionals requiring detailed optical data.

Technical Specifications

Instrument Type

Optical Spectrometer