

Panelled Steel Security Door with Lever Handle

This security door is constructed from durable steel and features a panelled design. It includes a standard lever handle and a peephole for enhanced security in residential or commercial settings.

Overview

Robust Security Solution

This panelled steel security door combines high-level protection with aesthetic appeal, making it suitable for both residential and commercial applications. Its durable metal construction is designed to resist forced entry while maintaining a sophisticated look. Featuring a geometric panelled design, a standard lever handle, and an integrated peephole, this door is built to provide both security and peace of mind.

Design & Construction

Material	Steel
Design Pattern	Geometric panelled squares

Hardware & Security

Suitable For	Residential • Commercial
Handle Type	Lever Handle
Security Features	Peephole, Reinforced Construction, Forced Entry Resistance