

Portable Detection Unit

This is a compact and portable detector unit. It features a user interface with multiple buttons and a display screen.

Overview

Portable Detection Unit

The BJ-210 is a compact and portable detection unit designed for versatility in various industrial and commercial environments. Featuring an intuitive user interface with a clear display screen and tactile buttons, it allows for efficient operation in the field. Its robust, two-tone design ensures durability while maintaining ease of use for professional detection applications.

Technical Details

Interface Components

- Display Screen
- Tactile Control Buttons

Model Number	BJ-210
Design Features	Portable, Compact, Two-tone housing, User Interface