

Shanghai International Circuit Racetrack

The Shanghai International Circuit is a world-renowned racetrack. It is known for its advanced technology and hosts various motorsports events.

Overview

Shanghai International Circuit

The Shanghai International Circuit represents a pinnacle of modern civil engineering, designed to meet the rigorous standards of world-class F1 racing. Utilizing advanced construction technologies, this facility has been recognized with prestigious honors including the Zhan Tianyou Civil Engineering Prize. Its infrastructure features specialized soft foundation treatment methods, ensuring a durable and high-performance racing surface.

Technical Achievements

Awards & Recognition

- Zhan Tianyou Civil Engineering Prize
- China Construction Engineering Science and Technology Progress Prize
- China Construction Industry Association Technical Innovation Achievement (Second Prize)

Construction Methodology

Soft Foundation Treatment, Advanced Civil Engineering, Technical Innovation

Facility Features

Facility Highlights

F1 Standard • Advanced Technology • High-Performance Surface