

Stainless Steel Angle Bar

These stainless steel angle bars are available in 201, 304, and 316 grades. They are suitable for industrial and construction applications requiring durability and corrosion resistance.

Product Overview

Industrial Stainless Steel Angle Bar

These professional-grade stainless steel angle bars are engineered for high-performance structural and decorative applications. Available in versatile 201, 304, and 316 grades, they offer the critical corrosion resistance and durability required for demanding construction and industrial projects. Designed for structural supports and framing, these profiles provide reliable strength and flexibility for various building requirements.

Specifications

Base Price

10.5 USD

Spot Wholesale Price

Application Areas

- Structural supports
- Industrial frames
- Construction profiles
- Decorative trims

Material Grades

201, 304, 316