

Stainless Steel Discus Padlock

This is a stainless steel discus padlock designed for security. It features a durable construction.

Product Overview

Professional Security Solution

This stainless steel discus padlock is engineered for robust security in various professional and commercial applications. Featuring a high-quality brass cylinder mechanism, it offers reliable operation and consistent performance. Its durable construction ensures longevity even in challenging environments, making it an ideal choice for securing doors, gates, and essential assets.

Technical Details

Included Components

- Padlock
- Multiple keys with standard milling patterns

Lock Mechanism Type	Brass cylinder with central barrel
Materials Used	Stainless Steel, Brass

Application

Key Security Features

Visible shear line • Anti-corrosion material • Standard keyway