

Thread Cutting Tap

This tool is designed for creating internal screw threads in holes. It can be used with hand tools or machine tools.

Product Overview

Precision Thread Cutting Solutions

These thread cutting taps are essential industrial components designed for creating internal threads in a wide range of materials. Engineered for durability and high-performance, they ensure consistent thread quality and extended tool life in rigorous machining environments. These tools are suitable for professionals seeking reliable precision in their metalworking processes.

Technical Specifications

| | |
|-------------|---|
| Tool Type | Thread Cutting Tap |
| Application | Internal Threading, Machining, Metalworking |