

Video IP Phone with Integrated Camera

This video IP phone integrates video conferencing capabilities with traditional telephony features. It has a built-in camera and display for video calls, along with a standard telephone keypad and function buttons.

Overview

Professional Video Communication

The Video IP Phone with Integrated Camera is a sophisticated communication device designed to bridge the gap between traditional telephony and modern video conferencing. It features a built-in camera and high-quality display, allowing for seamless face-to-face interactions directly from your desk. Engineered for both personal and professional environments, this device provides a reliable and intuitive user experience for all your communication needs.

Key Features

Core Capabilities

- Integrated video camera for conferencing
- High-resolution built-in display
- Standard telephone keypad interface
- Dedicated function buttons for call control

Device Type

Video IP Phone • VoIP • Office Communication